

Hamburg India Week 2025

Indo-German Day on a Green(H)er Future

Gender-inclusive international mobility of skilled workforce into green jobs

The event will bring together key stakeholders from India and Germany from various green industries. It will foster the dialogue on international mobility of skilled workforce as such, and particularly through collaboration on gender inclusion. The event will discuss challenges, opportunities and good practices for decision makers from private sector, vocational education, and governments, and will tackle gender inclusive vocational training as base to enable international mobility pathways.
